Notice to Taxpayers.

The collector is now sending out notice to delinquent taxpayers and all persons who owe taxes may expect to get acquainted with a deputy collector within a few days. It has now been seven months since 1898 taxes became due and Mr. Price says he thinks he has given all the time that anyone can reasonably ask, and that he will at once proceed to seize and sell personal property. This is no joke and we would advise all who have not paid their taxes to do so at once and thereby save costs.

—We are now prepared to make the patrons of THE REPUBLICAN the best clubbing offer we have ever yet made. The Kansas City Weekly Journal one of the great Republican journals of the West can be secured by applying at this office. For one dollar paid in advance we will furnish you the REPUBLICAN and Journal one whole year. If you are in arrears with THE REPUBLICAN but will pay up to date and renew for one year we will furnish you the Journal for twelve months.

It is estimated that in five years half the population of Cuba will be American, if peace is maintained on the island.

The "hung" jury in the South Carolina lynching cases probably means that justice has been "hung up" in that locality.

According to Henry Watterson, there are men who were born democrats, and men who are democrats from belief. The South is full of the first kind.

Gen. Otis is right; those who sent the unsigned cablegram to volunteers in the Philippines, saying, "Don't enlist, boys," were too cowardly to sign their names to the cablegrams.

Democrats will have to get a better scheme than opposition to an Anglo-American alliance to successfully fish for German votes. No man is more difficult to bamboozle than the average Americanized German.

The Mazet committee has found out where "Dick" Crocker got a portion of it. "Andy" Freedman paid it to him out of the profits of a loan and trust company that furnishes bonds for Tammany officials and contractors.

If the Democrats keep on as they are now doing, crying down the American flag and denying its right to be in the Philippines, there will be no democratic presidential electors elected next year. Their leaders mistake the spirit of the people.

W. M. Holland, representing the Springfield Republican, who was here about two weeks ago, writes a very entertaining letter concerning Taney county to that paper which we reproduce this week. It is full of facts and figures and deals justly on every point. Read it.

A warranty deed for an eighty-acre tract of Jasper county mineral land was filed with the recorder in Carthage a few days ago, the revenue stamps on which aggregated $344. The consideration named in the instrument was $344,000. And yet some people think southwest Missouri land is worth nothing.

The mix-up of the Belmonts and Mr. Bryan gets thicker. Following the statement that Oliver Belmont had been chosen by Mr. Bryan to be his personal representative in New York—what he wants with a personal representative in New York is another story—Perry Belmont poured another broadside into Mr. Bryan.

If those calling themselves Americans do not blush when they read such pictures of themselves and their aims as the following, from a London paper, we blush for them: "Unpatriotic politicians in the United States are doing their utmost to create a panic in the hope that the Philippines may be abandoned and the party in power discredited. It is an ignoble game."

Somebody has been looking up the family record of one of the most active officials of the Anti-Imperialistic League, of Boston, which made itself ridiculous by demanding the impeachment of President McKinley for making war on the Filipinos and it was discovered that his great-grandfather was a Tory, once ordered out of Boston by Gen. Washington; that both of his grandfathers opposed the war of 1812, and one was a member of the notorious Hartford convention; that his father bitterly denounced the war with Mexico, and that both he and his father were copper heads in the civil war. Americans want no advice from that sort of stock.

Whooping Cough.
I had a little boy who was nearly dead from an attack of whooping cough. My neighbors recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did not think that any medicine would help him, but after giving him a few doses of that remedy I noticed an improvement and one bottle cured him entirely. It is the best cough medicine I ever had in the house.—J. L. Moore, South Burgetstown, Pa. For sale by B. B. Price, Forsyth.

The Pension Law Changes.

There is one especially good provision in the amendment to the pension law which were made in a bill which quietly went through Congress in the closing days of the session. It provides briefly that where a pensioner of the United States willfully neglects his wife or off-spring, then the commissioner of pensions upon being satisfied of the fact, shall take one-half of such pension due and devote it to their maintenance. The necessity of such a provision has been made plain in a number of cases that have come to the attention of the present pension bureau.

The new law also contains a proviso that when a soldier or sailor enters into a state home as an inmate one-half of his pension accruing during his residence therein shall be paid to his wife or to his mother or minor children, unless the same be inmates of the same institution. It further provides that where the pensioner becomes an inmate of a national soldier's home one-half the pension drawn in his behalf during his residence there shall be paid by the treasurer of that institution to the pensioner's wife or to the legal guardian of the minor child or children.

There is a provision in the law which, it is claimed, will prevent young women from marrying old soldiers with one foot in the grave, for no other purpose only to fall heir to the soldier's pension. Com. Evans has time and again called attention to this practice, which has cost the government millions of dollars and in numerous reports and recommendations to Congress he has urged that some provision be enacted to prohibit such marriages.—Ex.

A Decent Democrat's Lament.

The ranks of Missouri's Democratic newspaper men contain few more loyal, consistent and conscientious representatives of that party than the editor of the Richmond Conservator. He is one from principle, not for pelf. He has supported the party's platform, fought its battles, rejoiced in its victories and grieved over its defeats, sincerely believing that in its success lay the surest promise of progress and prosperity for both individual and nation. But his hopes have yielded small fruition. He is discouraged, disgusted and well nigh hopeless, and does not hesitate to so express himself in print. Hear him: "We had hoped that the old Democratic party would secure and hold the reins of this government as it once did, but our hopes have almost faded away. In years gone by it seemed to be the aim of every true Democrat to sacrifice his own interests for those of his party, but that day has passed and men no longer act upon that theory. It is self, and self only, at the sacrifice of every principle that is sacred to a man who loves time-honored Democracy and patriotism. May God speed the day when demagogues and hypocrites cease to wield the influence they now have in our political gatherings, and when true men will be called to take their places."

Game Laws to be Changed.

An exchange suggests the following amendment to be added to our game laws: Book agents may be killed any time between March and November; lightening rod men between April 1st and Nov. 1st; meddlers and slander mongers, (either sex), from Jan. 1st to Nov. 30; snailbox patients, editors and mad dogs at any time when as many as three can be dispatched at once; men who take a paper for two years or more and when kindly asked to pay up claim they never ordered it may be killed upon the spot without ceremony or restraint, and as we have our Winchester loaded to the muzzle delinquents to this paper take notice as the law is expected to go into effect after 30 days.

When one man starts out to be the whole thing he assumes a burden that no individual has ever successfully carried for any considerable length of time.

B. B. PRICE.

I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea ever since the war and have used all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found one remedy that has been a success as a cure, and that is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.—P. E. Grisham, Gaars Mills, La. For sale by B. Price, Forsyth.

Another Silver Deserter.

From the Chicago Times-Herald.
Judge Worthington's letter to M. W. Meagher is an addition to the rapidly accumulating evidence that the Democrats are utterly weary of the hoodoo silver issue. The writer helped to frame the 16 to 1 platform, and it might be supposed that he would cling to it, ratio and all, so long as it had a spark of vitality left. But he is anxious to hedge and to make ready for a new start in 1900. He maintains that although the ratio was applicable three years ago it is no longer so. Its sanctity has departed and it is not an essential factor in bimetalism.

But bimetalism itself is still sacred. This is a reservation to prevent too great an appearance of economic gymnastics. It is sacred and we should have free coinage of both gold and silver, based on the market value of the bullion. What the unit of value would be the judge does not say, since he prefers to remain vaguely bimetallic on that point.

The economic aspects of the case are, after all, secondary to the political aspects. It is not "practical politics" to invite such another division of the party as occurred in 1896, and this is what 16 to 1 does. There is nothing to indicate that the ratio has gained friends. "It is now more than ever a question of debate among Democrats," and it is assuredly unwise "to insist upon a condition coupled to a principle that will be likely to defeat both principle and condition."

Therefore let us throw it over. Let us return to the good old-fashioned plan which was so popular when both parties were wont to dodge the money question with meaningless bimetallic declarations. And while we blow softly on the bimetallic whistle we can start the callopie going on trusts, imperialism and the Declaration of Independence. That stirring music will bring the gold Democrats back and perhaps convert a minority into a majority.

Of the positive import of the judge's new issues it is not necessary to speak, since the significance of his letter consists only in the recognition that silver is dead. He joins with Judge McConnell and with the bankers in New York and Milwaukee. He sees what is apparent to every man in the country who is not befogged by prejudices or rendered obstinate by a foolish dedication to consistency. The party that adopts the money plank of the Chicago platform will commit suicide.

Hence his desertion and the desertion of others which is constantly sapping the strength of the radicals of 1896 and making it clear that the uncompromising silver Democrats are far less likely to capture a national convention now than they were when a gold Democratic administration was in power and had its hands on the party machinery. They are the helpless victims of the logic of events, and the sooner they follow Judge Worthington's example the better it will be for their political prospects.

The amount of money in circulation in the United States has more than doubled in the last twenty years, and is now more per capita—$25.45—than at any time in our history.

It's a 16 to 1 shot that if Mr. Bryan was president he would not dare order Old Glory to be lowered in the Philippines, although he is now asking President McKinley to do it.

Republicans would ask nothing better than that Mr. Bryan be allowed to dictate the democratic platform next year, if he will make it contain the same sentiments he is uttering in his speeches.

Gen. Otis officially reports that only a little more than seven per cent of his army is on the sick list, including the wounded. That would be a good showing at home.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson, of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles."

Mr. Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors, as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled. A Missouriian in Porto Rico.

"We have a nice place to live in now," Ira Hammond, a Brookfield boy who is serving with the Fifth cavalry in Porto Rico, writes from Cayey, to friends at home. "The country of the island is magnificent, grand, sublime. It is very mountainous and all kinds of tropical fruit grow here. There are large coffee and sugar plantations, mostly Spanish wealth. All it costs us to get oranges, pineapples, dates, limes, bananas, chocolates, lemons, pawpaws and coconuts is the labor of climbing the mountains, which, however, is a very difficult task. The geranium, four-o'clock, sunflower, castor bean, century plant, elephant ears and tuberos grow wild here. A curious tree grows about five feet high with many long, smooth, green branches like snakes and if anything touches them they curl up. The mahogany, rose and redwood are also to be found. The Spanish power has kept the natives of Porto Rico in ignorance of the outer world. They have the oldest of styles and customs. The natives build their houses of bamboo poles, cane grass and date palm bark. Sunday is their great day of sport. That is the day for their cock fights, bull fights, dancing and gambling games. The military government has prohibited bull fighting. I saw one fight. On Sunday the poorer classes assemble in the plaza and give their children away. Their way of burying their dead is curious. A coffin is reared for the corpse to be carried to the cemetery. Two or four natives carry it on their heads or fastened to two bamboo poles. The corpse is taken out of the coffin and buried about two feet. If the rent for the burial lot is not paid within a certain time the body is dug up and thrown away. Cayey cemetery contains about two acres, surrounded by a stone wall ten feet high and three feet thick. At the entrance is a large stone building for persons who are too old to take care of themselves. They are left here to starve to death or commit suicide, for which latter deed a special machine is furnished. Over the door of the stone building are fastened the natural cross bones and skull and the letters 'R. I. P.' In this cemetery you cannot walk without stepping on some human bones or skull."

—B. B. Price received recently a large quantity of new drugs, patent medicines, toilet articles and a hundred and one other useful articles usually kept at a first class drug store.

An Immortal Picture.

"When daylight came on May 1," said Bluejacket Harris of the cruiser Raleigh, telling the story of the battle of Manila Bay, "you should have seen our fleet as we broke the battle flags from every mast. I thought: 'If they could only have a picture of this at home there isn't a man who wouldn't die in the service of his country to be represented in that picture.'"

At home, on the very next day after Dewey's ships "broke the battle flags from every mast," there was a picture of that stirring and immortal scene. Reading the graphic news accounts of the finest sea fight in history, the picture rose clear before the mind's eye of every American in every State of the Union. It was a fine picture. It made the Yankee bosom swell with pride. It gave volume and spirit to the plucky ringing of a plucky nation's cheers. It will never be forgotten.

Some day a great American painter will paint the picture of the Battle of Manila Bay. He must needs be a patriot to do justice to his theme. He will be competing with a picture exhibited in the gallery of the national firmament a year ago. It was painted by Dewey, and the colors were laid on in an excellent light—that of early morning, just before breakfast.

WINE OF CARDUI
THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after a long and painful examination by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure

CONTESTS.
Prizes desiring to make honest claims, cash entries, contests or final proofs will find it to their interest to bring all such business to Wm. H. Johnson, office over Taney County bank, Forsyth, where they can have the advantage of consulting complete and accurate government plats of Taney county, corrected each week for a direct from the L. J. office. He will correctly make out and file applications and transact all "our business" promptly, will take evidence of contests and final proofs at office, thereby saving you an expensive trip to Springfield. Will furnish plats of townships or parts of townships, and any information desired relating to vacant lands, upon application.

SURVEYOR'S FEES.

An act of the Legislature, approved March 31, 1891, provides that County Surveyors be allowed 50 cents for each survey of one and a quarter miles or less; 40 cents for each plat; 30 cents for copy of plat and certificate; 20 cents for recording plat and certificate. These items foot up $2.50, the lowest charge made for any survey, and in addition to this amount there is a charge of 80 cents for each additional mile and $1.00 for each corner established. The Statute provides that County Surveyors perpetuate their surveys by establishing well defined corners, and it is not left merely to the opinion of the party having the survey made as to the number of corners necessary to perpetuate the work—that must be determined by the surveyor himself, charge of 8 cents for every mile of travel, each way, is allowed.
Random Surveys are more guess work, neither accurate nor safe, and dear at any price. All communications relative to surveys, etc., promptly answered.
